The Aurora Project is offering an opportunity to visit Stanford, Harvard, Columbia and New York University in the US, and Cambridge and Oxford in the UK, commencing in late October 2013.

A group of approximately 15 successful applicants will spend 18 days in the US and 10 days in the UK.

Successful applicants may elect to join the full tour, or only the US or UK leg.

Applications close at 5pm AEST on Wednesday 24 July 2013

Kathleen Jackson, Newcastle University
2013 Roberta Sykes Harvard Club Scholar to Harvard

Leila Smith, ANU
2013 Charlie Perkins Scholar to Cambridge

“Never in my wildest dreams did I ever think attending world-renowned universities like Oxford and Harvard was a possibility. This trip helped to open a world of possibilities.”

“I came away feeling much more confident about my knowledge of the course, my ability to get in and keep up, and was excited to call my family and tell them I wanted to apply and that I may have found our next home for a couple of years.”

ELIGIBILITY

Residents must:
- Be of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent, identify as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander, and be accepted as such by the community in which they live or have lived.
- Have completed at least two years of their undergraduate degree in any field of study.

Selection of successful applicants will be based on academic merit (Distinction average or higher).